

IBS protective gloves - pack of 5

SKU: Schutzhandschuhe

The IBS protective gloves are solvent-resistant, i.e. hydrocarbon-resistant gloves made of nitrile rubber, tested in accordance with current EC standards, labelled CE-0493 and suitable for protection against mechanical risks, microorganisms and chemicals.

The IBS protective gloves made of nitrile rubber offer reliable protection when working with solvent-based and other chemical products (IBS special cleaners). They are tested in accordance with current EC standards and are labelled CE-0493.

Description:

IBS protective gloves: maximum protection for your hands:

- certified to EN 388:2016 and EN 374: guaranteed protection against mechanical risks and chemicals
- excellent resistance to hydrocarbon derivatives: ideal for use with IBS speciality cleaners
- long permeation time (breakthrough time) of over 480 minutes: reliable protection even with prolonged contact with cleaning agents

Advantages:

Comfort and wearing comfort:

- Ergonomic design: optimum fit and freedom of movement
- Breathable material: pleasant feeling on the skin even when worn for long periods of time
- High dexterity: precise work without restrictions

Mandatory and necessary:

- required by law: Wearing protective gloves in many work areas (Hazardous Substances Ordinance, DIN EN 12921, DGUV Information 2019-088, DGUV Rule 112-995)
- Protection against: Skin damage, infections, allergic reactions

Versatile in use:

- Ideal for: working with IBS special cleaners in industry, trade and workshops of all kinds
- Available in different sizes: for an optimum fit on every hand

Technical data

| | |
|---------------------|--------------------------|
| Size: | L, XL, XXL |
| Description of the: | velourised/hammer finish |
| Length: | 330 mm |
| Colour: | green |

Strength: 0.38 mm
Size: 9-11 (XXL)